Chorus

Oh, how I long for heaven in a place called earth
Where every son and daughter will know their worth
Where all the streets resound with thunderous joy

Oh, how I long for heaven in a place called earth

Verse

Oh, the wars we haven't won, oh, the songs we've left unsung
Oh, the dreams we haven't seen, on the borderlines

Verse

And here we are between all of our hopes and fear
Chasing down these stolen years
Reaching out for things unseen on the borderlines
The borderlines

Chorus

Oh, how I long for heaven in a place called earth
Where every son and daughter would know their worth
Where all the streets resound with thunderous joy
Oh, how I long for heaven in a place called earth

Jesus name still on her tongue, questions buried in her lungs
Oh my Father, why my son, on the borderlines, the borderlines
