Intro

G

Verse 1

G

I remember the year that

Spring felt a little colder

Em

The sky was heavy

Em

Like it was crying on my shoulder

Just wasn't myself

Needed some help

Am

Kinda hard to admit

D

That I wasn't doing well

Verse 2

G

And I remember my momma

G

Said, "Baby, don't you worry

Em

He's got this, it's a process

Em

Just let Him write your story"

C

The hardest thing I went through

I turned into a tattoo

Am

And now I'm looking back and thinkin'

Chorus 1

G

Thank God

G

For all the times that He said "No"

Em

Thank God

Em

He let me walk the harder road

C

Thank God that not too soon

C

When I was lost

His light broke through
And even when I think it's over
Second chances still come true
Thank God

Verse 3

I'm not saying for a second
That I got all the answers
I'm just aiming towards heaven
Trying to focus on what matters
"Just one day at a time"
That's my repeating line
So I'm just looking up and thinkin'

Chorus 2

Thank God
For all the times that He said "No"
Thank God
He let me walk the harder road
Thank God that not too soon
When I was lost
His light broke through
And even when I think it's over
Second chances still come true

Chorus 3

Thank God
That I don't need to walk alone
Thank God
That it ain't me up on that throne
And thank God, 'cause I assume
He's got a million things to do
But while He's watching over me
He's still watching over you

Thank God
Thank God (Mhmm)
Thank God

Bridge

There's a part to all good stories
Where you wonder if the morning sun will shine
Again
Sometimes faith is learning lessons
Sometimes pain turns into blessings
So I'm remembering

Chorus 4

To thank God
For all the times that He said "No"
Thank God
He let me walk the harder road
Thank God that not too soon
When I was lost
His light broke through
And even when I think it's over
Second chances still come true
Thank God
That I don't need to walk alone
Thank God
That it ain't me up on that throne
Thank God, 'cause I assume
He's got a million things to do
But while He's watching over me
He's still watching over you
Thank God
